The Future of External Assurance with a Focus on Management Commentary: User and Auditor Perspectives

By Ian Fraser and Angus Duff

The Luxembourg School of Finance

Is pleased to invite you to the

LSF Seminar

The recent financial crisis has again brought to the fore questions surrounding both the scope and quality of the external audit. In conjunction with this, narrative reporting or management commentary continues to grow in importance in the annual reports of companies and therefore the question as to whether and, if so, how assurance should be provided on such information is fundamental.

This project investigates views on the value and importance of management commentary and whether there is a demand by corporate report users for external assurance on management commentary. Whilst asking users about these issues attention also naturally turns to more general views on the scope and value of the current statutory audit, looking particularly at the level of confidence in the present external audit process, the perceived usefulness of current external audit reports and views as to how the usefulness of audit reports might be enhanced. These more general findings are therefore also reported in this study.

This study is based on a questionnaire survey to professional and private investors, finance professionals and other users. This was supplemented by interviews to explore the issues in greater depth.

A second stage of this project is currently in progress – this will investigate whether auditors are able and willing to provide assurance on management commentary.
